Installation of Officers.

Clover Temple No. 1, and Apollo Lodge No. 2, held a joint installation in K. P. hall Tuesday evening, Jan. 4. The public installation service was used. The guests of honor were Grand Chancellor Commander Whitaker of Bellows Falls and Grand Chief, Mrs. Maude Howison of Hardwick, the latter acting as installing officer in the work of Clover Temple.

The floor work and tableaux of Clover Temple have seldom been excelled at any installation held in this hall and too much praise cannot be given to the excellence of the work of the grand chief, Della Wright as Flora and the little flower girls, Elizabeth McGill, Laura Dolloff and Marguerite McGill won the hearts of the spectators.

Mrs. Roy Wheelock presented the retiring G. C., David Harlow, with a gold ring bearing the fraternal emblems, and Clover Temple presented their G. C. with a large bouquet of chrysanthemums. Refreshments of ice cream, cake and punch were served by the Knights and Sisters and all pronounced it a most enjoyable evening.

THE DOUBTER

The man who is skeptical—he is the one we want to try our coal. Once the skeptic is convinced he becomes a customer of ours that remains ONE.

Skeptics, critics, people who are hard to please in the coal requirements—they are the ones' trade we invite as we know that our clean, clear burning coal will clinch their business for our establishment.

SOCIAL EVENTS.

St. John de Crevecoeur chapter, D. A. R., held a pleasant meeting Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. D. C. Horner. The program consisted of a paper on "Roger Morris and the Jumel Mansion," by Mrs. Margaret N. Heywood.

The Clives club met Wednesday afternoon with Miss Kate Wakefield and continued the subject of "Community Health." Two papers were given, one by Miss Alice W. Wilcox on "Pure Milk," and one by Mrs. Arthur R. Brooks on "Pure Food." Miss Wilcox emphasized the dangers from using milk which is not perfectly clean and pure and Mrs. Brooks urged all to look at the labels on the packages and cans which they buy. The subject of the next meeting will be local health conditions.

The second of the Chin-Chin club teas was held last Monday at the home of Miss Phoebe Scott on Pearl street. The third tea will be on Wednesday, Jan. 12, at the home of Miss Harriette Weeks, Autumn street.

The annual meeting of the Ladies Aid of the First Baptist church was held with Mrs. O. H. Henderson, Pearl street, last week. The following officers were elected: President, Mrs. J. C. McLeod; treasurer, Mrs. Addie Wright; secretary, Mrs. Elsie Harvey. The Aid will meet with Mrs. Addie Wright, 1 Jones street, Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

The Missionary Round Table met last evening at the home of Mrs. Ralph Hooker, with Miss Mary E. Ide, Mrs. Homer E. Smith and Miss Lizzie Harris as assistant hostesses. Miss Helen Linley read a paper on "A Nation at School."

The Searchlight club was entertained on Monday evening by Mrs. Ernest H. Cowles.

Some of the girls employed by the Passumpsic Telephone company and a few others enjoyed a snowshoe tramp on Sunday followed by a supper at Sherburne's restaurant.

Attempted Suicide.

Bert C. Hill, who has been having a drunken time since Christmas, using Jamaica ginger when he could not get liquor, claims that he drank a quantity of bichloride last Saturday evening. He announced to his family and acquaintances that he was going to end his life. After he claimed that he had taken poison his condition became such that Dr. McSweeney and Dr. Fitch were called and ordered him removed to St. Johnsbury hospital.

He is still there and apparently recovering from a prolonged debauch and up to yesterday no effects of the alleged poison were manifest. He has a wife and four children, two of whom live at home and have been supported by Mrs. Hill.
